DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the “gripper claimed in Claim 8, line 2, must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Line 2 of Claim 5 cites "... a counter-vice to hold the tool carrier on the side...". Further review of the Specification or Drawings do not show this claimed subject matter. Applicant is referred to Specification, page 3, lines 17-18, which cites "...counter-vice for holding the workpiece holder on the side...".

Claim 6, line 1-2 recites the limitation "'the counter-vice". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. There is no mention of a counter-vice in claim 4, which claim 6 depends on.

Claim 7, line 2 recites the limitation "the counter-vice". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 8 line 2 recites "gripper". Further review of the Specification or drawings does not clarify the claimed subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McMurtry et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,478,300).

McMurtry et al. teaches a vertical spindle CNC machining center having a computer for controlling its various operations (i.e. a tool slide which can be moved in a controlled manner), cassette-loading system (magazine workpiece feed)(15) that is in alignment with a cassette-receiving device (4) (rotary table about axis 4A), and cassette transfer mechanism for pushing and pulling the cassette axially (see figures 1 & 2 and Col. 3, lines 20-31 and Col. 5, lines 11-26). McMurtry et al. also teaches cassette-loading system (magazine workpiece feed)(15) on a chain conveyor (17, therefore rotates about a central axis) having plurality of receivers for workpiece holders and its movement is timed via a control system (202) (Col. 3 lines 65-67 to Col. 4, lines 1-13 and Col. 8, lines 24-35).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3722

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Osburn et al. (U.S. Patent No. 3,825,245), in view of Mattson (U.S. Patent No. 4,480,738).

Osburn et al. teaches a vertical machining center having a tool slide moving in the Y-axis, work changer (workpiece feed)(44) that is in alignment with a rotatable work-carrying pallet (30) that moves on guides in the direction of work changer (workpiece feed)(44) (see figure 1).

However, Osburn et al. fails to teach controlled movements of the different machine components by a CNC machine.

Mattson teaches machine tool control system (20) for controlling the movements of the different components of the machine tool (Col. 4, lines 3-16).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to add machine control system (CNC) to control the movements of Osburn et al's invention, as taught by Mattson for the purpose of having displacement measuring systems which detect the positions of the machine slide relative to a zero point so that the actual slide positions can be taken into account for the machining of a workpiece leading to a better quality product/workpiece.

Additionally, the use CNC on machines reduces the cycle time to load, machine and unload workparts relative to a workpart-holding spindle of the machine tool.
